Election/Restriction

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

A. Claims 1-3, 52-55 and 83-88 are drawn to compact disk (CD) having two track audio and additional audio stored in an audio portion and CD-ROM portion, respectively, and combining control information stored on CD-ROM portion, classified in Class 369, subclass 275.1.

B. Claims 23-32 are drawn to an apparatus for the augmented playback of compact disk (CD) having two channel audio, including first and second buffer memory, control processor, and digital signal processor, classified in Class 369, subclass 47.32.

Selected ☒ C. Claims 4-14, 33-51, 71-82 and 89-94 are drawn to a method of storing two track audio and additional audio on audio portion and another portion respectively, and combining control information on a compact disk, classified in Class 369, subclass 59.25.

D. Claims 15-22, 60-70 and 95-106 are drawn to a method for reproducing media stored audio information including reading two track audio and second audio from first and second media, including, reading control information, and reproducing audio using the control information or reading low resolution audio, additional information, and control information, and reconstructing two track high resolution audio using the read signals, classified in Class 369, subclass 47.16.

Inventions B and A are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and

(2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the apparatus does not require a disk having additional audio in a CD-ROM portion. The subcombination has separate utility such as with a recording apparatus.

Inventions A and C are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process such as with method of reproducing.

Inventions A and D are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case, the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process such as with method of recording.

Inventions C and B are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the process as claimed can be practiced by another and materially different apparatus such as recording apparatus.

Inventions D and B are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the process as claimed can be practiced by another and materially different apparatus such as an apparatus without first and second buffers.

Inventions C and D are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention C has separate utility such as with a method for recording video data. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

2. A telephone call was made to Mr. Gerald Parsons on January 30, 2003; to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

NOTE: Mr. Parson requested that a formal restriction be sent out for examination of the client.

3. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 C.F.R. § 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a diligently-filed petition under 37 C.F.R. § 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 C.F.R. § 1.17(h).

4. A shortened statutory period for response to this action is set to expire 1 (one) months and 0 (zero) days from the mail date of this letter. Failure to respond within the period for response will result in ABANDONMENT of the application (see 35 U.S.C. 133, M.P.E.P. 710.02, 710.02(b)).
